Unit I: Self Development Skills

1.1. Introduction to Personality

In daily life, you have either listened or spoken statements like following:

'Sushant seems to be crazy'

'Ramola is short-tempered'

'Papa is open minded'

'Clerk was helpful'

The words highlighted are adjectives to describe the personality of persons. We use many such adjectives frequently but if we are asked to define personality, interestingly, many of us are not able to do it. These descriptions are sometimes accurate and sometimes result in loose talks, gossips and misunderstandings. So let's know more about personality.

What is PERSONALITY?

Personality is the word derived from Latin word 'Persona'. It literally means 'Mask'. While describing personality, common man use the word 'mask' in negative way. But in reality, it speaks about the roles people play in life. These roles when overpowers you, they hide your true 'Self' but if you are aware of their boundaries, they will add to your personality. Many experts from psychology have studied personality in depth and put different theories of personality. Following are the major findings which help us to understand this concept.

Points to be kept in mind to understand the concept of personality:

- Personality is A Style of Life. It speaks about UNIQUENESS of individual. Every individual has HIS/HER OWN PERSONALITY!
- Outer appearance, colour of skin and physical characteristics have very limited value in understanding personality
- Personality is an ORGANIZED aspect of person which is consistently observed at different times and across similar situations. It is relatively permanent.
- Attitudes, beliefs, strong habits, consistently shown motivations form major part of personality.
- Responses given in specific situations don't give much information about personality
- Take into account Social and Situational contexts before interpreting one's behaviour and label his/her personality.
